

Cyrex Laboratories

Cyrex™ addresses the cross-connections between the body's endocrine, gastrointestinal and neurological systems which play a significant role in the development of today's complex disorders. To visit their home page, click here.

Cyrex Laboratories offer testing to evaluate increased gut permeability (leaky gut), blood brain barrier permeability, food sensitives, and reactions to chemicals now found in our environment.

In addition, their testing can identify which organs and tissues are being affected by autoimmune disease.

To learn more about the specific tests that they offer, click here

Payment and scheduling of blood draw information are available on their website.

This lab does not submit to insurance at this time. The payment for these tests is the patient's responsibility. You can submit these tests to your insurance to try to receive some reimbursement. You may also submit receipts to your HSA or FSA accounts.